

Dru Ayurveda Online Foundation Course (DAOFC) Terms and Conditions

1. You should uphold the International School of DRU Yoga (DRU Ayurveda is taught as part of the school of Dru Yoga) to the best of your ability, and not act in any way that may bring discredit to the School.
2. All students and graduates are expected to abide by the Code of Conduct of the DAOFC.
3. You must agree to practise DRU Ayurveda in accordance with the standards of safety set by your tutors.
4. During the Course your tutors make ongoing evaluation and assessment of your suitability for continued participation in the course. This is discussed with each student when necessary in the event of any areas of concern in relation to their continued participation, as necessary throughout the course. If it is the view of the Course tutors that any student should not continue with the Course at any time (whether that view be to defer the student's further participation or simply brought to a permanent conclusion), we reserve the right to end that student's participation in the Course and the decision of the Course tutors shall be final. In this case, no further course fees or cancellation fee will be payable by the student.
5. The Course involves a wide variety of Ayurveda techniques, and you agree to take responsibility for your health and well-being by respecting your body's limitations and health conditions you may have by:
 - a. Informing your tutors of any physical limitations or any other conditions that could affect your practice.
 - b. Modifying or omitting practices according to the directions of your tutors and also according to your own experience of the limitations of your body and mental health.
 - c. Choosing not to undertake any activity that in your experience could cause pain to your body.

If you have any doubt, please consult your doctor and if you feel any pain, discomfort or dizziness, please do not continue until you have sought medical advice.

Any health information on our site is provided for educational and informational purposes only. It is not in any way intended or implied to be used as a substitute for professional medical advice, diagnosis, treatment or care. Beginning any significant treatment with drugs, supplements or other interventions that may impact physiology or making changes to an established regimen should be discussed with the patient's physician and health care practitioner.

The information on our site is not intended to be taken as a replacement for medical advice. Neither Dru UK nor its presenters, officers or employees accept any responsibility in connection with the use of the information in individual cases.

6. It takes time to establish the experience of DRU Ayurveda within your personal practice before you can transmit this experience to others. The student must agree not to set him/herself up as a practitioner of DRU Ayurveda until he/she has done the Dru Ayurveda Health Coach Diploma Course, passed the final assessment and completed the required case studies.
7. Your privacy is important to you and to us.

Our privacy

Copyright:

All course materials are for your personal use only and subject to copyright law. You are not allowed to reproduce, distribute or share log in details and course materials including downloads and streaming links with other people, without explicit written consent from Dru (UK) Ltd.

Online/streamed courses:

Please be aware that you need to maintain the privacy of the Dru (UK) Ltd organisation and your fellow students when participating in online courses.

Confidentiality:

You may not share confidential information which you have gained through group and/or personal teaching sessions, mentorings and group activities, unless you have the express permission of people involved. Please respect people's privacy.

Your privacyConsent to Record:

We will always ask for your consent before we photograph, record video, or capture any other imagery in any other medium, nor use such imagery or your likeness.

Data Protection Act:

In order to operate effectively and fulfil its legal obligations, Dru (UK) Ltd needs to collect, maintain and use certain personal information about current, past and prospective staff members or volunteers, customers, suppliers and other individuals with whom it has dealings. All such personal information, whether held on computer, paper or other media, will be obtained, handled, processed, transported and stored lawfully and correctly, in accordance with the safeguards contained in the Data Protection Act 1998 (DPA). Dru (UK) Ltd' full Data Protection Policy can be found in the company handbook. If required, please ask for a copy.

Others' privacyConsent to Record:

You must not photograph, record video, or capture any other imagery in any other medium, nor use such imagery or such person's likeness, without the express consent of the students, trainees, or members of the public who are included in such photography, video, and imagery.

You may not share confidential information which you have gained through group and/or personal teaching sessions, mentorings and group activities, unless you have the express written permission of people involved. Please respect people's privacy.

8. Cancellation: If you decide that the DAOFC does not meet your needs you may withdraw from the course at any time. The course fee is non-refundable.

If you have to discontinue the Course due to extenuating circumstances, you may be eligible for a refund. This is entirely at the discretion of the course directors.

I have read and agree to abide by the above terms and conditions.

Dru UK Registered Office

Snowdonia Mountain Lodge, Nant Ffrancon, Bethesda, Bangor. LL57 3LX

www.druworldwide.com

T: +44 (0) 1248 602900 F: +44 (0) 1248 602004 e: hello@druworldwide.com

A Private Limited Company Reg No 2273970